

x
THE TAYLOR
BELL FOUNDRY
LOUGHBOROUGH ENGLAND.

104
Taylor (John) and Company de

3479. 66.12.

JOHANNES DE STAFFORD, about the middle or later half of the fourteenth century, had a bell-foundry at Leicester, of which town he was Mayor in the years 1366 and 1370. He was probably the predecessor of WILLIAM MILLER, bell-founder, who was admitted a Member of the Merchants' Guild of Leicester, 1499-1500. His widow married, for her second husband, THOMAS NEWCOMBE, whose son, ROBERT, succeeded to the business and was himself followed by his three sons, THOMAS, EDWARD and ROBERT. In 1585, these latter, in partnership with FRANCIS WATTS, cast the old tenor bell for Loughborough Parish Church.

EDWARD NEWCOMBE had also three sons associated with him in the business, the eldest of whom, ROBERT, was admitted to the Merchants' Guild in 1600. These appear to have been the last Newcombes in the Leicester foundry. One of them, WILLIAM, went to Nottingham, and in partnership with HENRY OLDFIELD, there cast "Great Tom" of Lincoln, in the year 1610.

FRANCIS WATTS, above-mentioned, died in the year 1600, and his place was taken by his son, HUGH WATTS, who soon obtained a high reputation as a founder. He was Mayor of Leicester, 1633-1634, and died in 1643. He stated in his will:—"I give all my tools and implements belonging to the trade of a bell-founder to my son, Hugh Watts." This Hugh Watts the second, was the last of the Watts'.

The business was afterwards carried on at Kettering by the EAYRE family, who thereby added bell-founding to their trade as clock-makers, THOMAS and JOHN (Thomas' uncle) being in partnership in 1717. THOMAS EAYRE died 1757. His brother, JOSEPH EAYRE, migrated to St. Neots, and had as apprentice, EDWARD ARNOLD, who took up the business after his master's death, and who, in 1784, left St. Neots and set up his bell-foundry at Leicester, in a street named Hangman's Lane.

To EDWARD ARNOLD had been apprenticed

ROBERT TAYLOR, born 1759, who carried on the business at St. Neots after the departure of Edward Arnold. Among the first peals cast by ROBERT TAYLOR is the ring of five bells in Bletsoe Church, bearing the date 1786.

ROBERT TAYLOR had two sons, WILLIAM, born 1795, and JOHN, born 1797, who for some time assisted him in the business at St. Neots, but afterwards set up in Oxford, where WILLIAM made clocks also. ROBERT TAYLOR died at Oxford in 1830, and of his two sons, WILLIAM, the elder, died unmarried in 1854, but JOHN, the younger, married in 1825, and went that year to Buckland Brewer, Devonshire, where he built a foundry. Eight years afterwards, however, he returned to Oxford, leaving again in 1840, when he came to LOUGHBOROUGH, where the foundry has since remained. He died in 1858 and bequeathed the business to his only surviving son, JOHN WILLIAM TAYLOR, born at Buckland Brewer in 1827.

In the energetic hands of this great bell-founder, and with the assistance of his eldest son, JOHN WILLIAM, many noble bells and famous peals were cast. "Great Paul," the largest in the British Empire, was cast in November, 1881, and was installed in its place in the South tower of the West front of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, and solemnly dedicated on Saturday, June 3rd, 1882. The fine ring of twelve bells had been hung in the North tower of the same Cathedral four years earlier.

The Cathedrals of Newcastle-on-Tyne; St. Mary's, Glasgow; St. Mary's, Edinburgh; St. Patrick's, Dublin; Christchurch, New Zealand; and Singapore, owe their peals to this period, as also do the Town Halls of Manchester, Bradford, Halifax, Rochdale, Kendal and Londonderry; the Post Offices of Sydney and Adelaide in Australia; the Universities of Liverpool, Glasgow, Bombay, and Ames (Iowa, U.S.A.) also the Imperial Institute. To this list add "Great John," of Beverley; and the re-casting of "Grandison," the tenor bell of the ring of Exeter Cathedral. This is a roll of which any founder would be justified in being proud.

JOHN WILLIAM TAYLOR died in 1906, and left the business to his eldest son, the above-mentioned JOHN WILLIAM, born 1853, and his fourth son, EDMUND DENISON, born 1864. The former died in 1919, and the business is now in the hands of the latter. He was assisted by his nephew, PRYCE TAYLOR, born 1891, whose early and deeply regretted death occurred at Toronto in 1927 while on a business tour. Another nephew of Edmund Denison Taylor is now with the firm, PAUL LEA TAYLOR, born 1914, youngest son of the last John William.

In recent years many and great improvements in ringing peals and in stationary chimes have been introduced, as the bells of York, Worcester, Truro, Lincoln, Dunblane, Bradford and Ripon Cathedrals testify; also of Nottingham Exchange; the Custom Houses of Shanghai and Canton; the Town Halls of South Shields and Pretoria; and of Birmingham University, England, and Yale University and the University of California (Berkeley, Cal.) in the United States of America.

Noteworthy too, is "Great Peter" of York Minster, "Great George" of Bristol University, the great Bourdon bell, "Hosanna," of Buckfast Abbey, and the bells of Harvard University, U.S.A. and Seoul Cathedral.

Perhaps the most noteworthy feature of all, however, is the immense advancement made recently by the firm in the casting and installing of "CARILLONS," that is, chromatic scales of bells, hung stationary, and played by hand from a keyboard (clavier). The following is a list of the most important of these Carillons:—

	No. of Bells.	Largest Bell weighing.
Ann Arbor, University of Michigan, Mich., U.S.A.	53	24,000 lbs.
Mountain Lake Bird Sanctuary, Lake Wales, Florida, U.S.A.	71	23,000 "
Richmond War Memorial, Va., U.S.A. ...	66	11,200 "
Indianapolis, Scottish Rite Cathedral, Indiana, U.S.A.	63	11,200 "
Albany City Hall, N.Y., U.S.A.	60	11,200 "
Durham, Duke University, N.C., U.S.A.	50	11,200 "
Sydney University, N.S.W., Australia ...	62	9,455 "
St. Helens, St. Mary's Church, Lancs., England	47	9,408 "
Loughborough War Memorial, England ...	60	9,284 "
Rotterdam City Hall, Holland	49	9,226 "
Springfield, Trinity M.E. Church, Mass., U.S.A.	61	7,918 "
Cobh (Queenstown) Cathedral, Irish Free State	42	7,582 "
Birmingham, Christ Church, Cranbrook, Mich, U.S.A.	61	6,836 "
Germantown, First M.E. Church, Phil., Pa., U.S.A.	61	6,720 "
Ames, Iowa State College, Iowa, U.S.A. ...	36	5,600 "
Hartford, Trinity College, Conn., U.S.A.	30	5,600 "
Springfield, Hillcrest Park Cemetery, Mass., U.S.A.	25	5,600 "
Zwolle, Holland	42	5,376 "
Cape Town City Hall, South Africa	37	5,313 "
Armagh, St. Patrick's Cathedral, Irish Free State	39	4,830 "
Lincoln, First Plymouth Congregational Church, Neb., U.S.A.	48	4,700 "
Zutphen, Wine House Tower, Holland ...	36	4,602 "
Rumson, St. George's Church, N.J., U.S.A.	25	4,600 "
Bournville Schools, Birmingham, England	42	4,581 "
Morristown, St. Peter's Church, N.J., U.S.A.	35	4,495 "
Bathurst War Memorial, N.S.W., Australia	35	3,472 "
Gloucester, Portuguese Church, Mass, U.S.A.	31	2,826 "
Loughborough, The Bellfoundry	46	2,660 "
Flushing, St. James' Church, Holland ...	33	2,389 "
Andover, The Phillips Academy, Mass., U.S.A.	30	2,347 "
Parkgate, Mostyn House School, Cheshire, England	37	2,128 "
Birmingham, First Presbyterian Church, Ala., U.S.A.	25	1,709 "
Bennebroek, Holland	23	784 "
Appingedam, Holland	25	683 "
Eindhoven, Holland	25	602 "
Hattem, Holland	25	292 "

